ANISHINABEK NATION

NEWS RELEASE

Autumn Peltier appointed Anishinabek Nation Chief Water Commissioner

ANISHINABEK NATION HEAD OFFICE (April 26, 2019)— Anishinabek Nation Grand Council Chief Glen Hare is pleased to announce that the new Anishinabek Nation Chief Water Commissioner, Autumn Peltier, will be honoured at the Anishinabek Nation Grand Council Assembly in June in Chippewas of Georgina Island First Nation.

The assembly's theme – Mndaadendang Nibi Ekeanjigewat (Honouring our Water Protectors) will give thanks to the previous Anishinabek Nation Chief Water Commissioner, the late Grandmother Josephine Mandamin, and celebrate Autumn Peltier, who is the great-niece of Josephine, in her new position.

"Autumn has extensive nibi giikendaaswin (water knowledge)," says Anishinabek Nation Grand Council Chief Glen Hare. "She has been bringing global attention to the water issues in our country for a few years now. It is an honour to have her be our next Chief Water Commissioner."

Peltier is a 14-year-old youth from Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory on Manitoulin Island. She has advocated for the water at the United Nation and the Assembly of First Nations.

The Anishinabek Women's Water Commission was established in 2007. Its mandate is to provide advice for Anishinabek Nation leadership and citizens on water and Great Lakes management issues through dialogue and information exchange. The commission plays a leadership role in raising awareness on all water issues, sharing their traditional knowledge, teachings and values.

The Anishinabek Nation is the political advocate for 40 member communities across Ontario, representing approximately 65,000 people. The Anishinabek Nation is the oldest political organization in Ontario and can trace its roots back to the Confederacy of Three Fires, which existed long before European contact.

Physical Activity for Life

Official exercise guidelines are updated as we're learning more about how physical fitness and exercise affect our health and longevity. New evidence-based studies show we can fight many of our most common chronic health problems simply by staying physically active.

Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology (CSEP) Recommendations:

AGES 3 TO 4[1]

Get at least 180 minutes per day of a variety of physical activities, including at least 60 minutes of energetic play.

AGES 5 TO 17[1]

Get 60 minutes per day of moderate- to vigorous-intensity activity for healthy heart, muscle and bone development. For muscle and bone strength, include vigorous physical activities at least 3 days per week.

ADULTS[1]

Get at least 150 minutes of moderate- to vigorous-intensity activity each week in segments of 10 minutes or more; add muscle strengthening at least 2 days a week.

Just move more and sit less. Working in brief, 10-minute exercise spurts (e.g., fast walking) 3 times a day, 5 days a week, meets the recommended exercise goal, says the CSEP. Physical activity has health benefits, including better sleep, stress relief and improved blood pressure and mental health. Over time, staying physical helps manage many ongoing health conditions including obesity, osteoarthritis, multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, diabetes and dementia.

Light intensity
can include walking leisurely or doing light household chores.

Moderate intensity can be biking, walking briskly or raking the yard.

Vigorous intensity
can be jogging, circuit workouts or heavy labour.

BEST bits

If you are gaining weight despite eating fewer calories and exercising regularly, these factors may be the cause: fluid accumulation in feet, hands, face or belly; fatigue or muscle weakness, possibly related to diabetes or low thyroid function; quitting smoking; increased stress; depression; or new medications. Discuss with your health care provider.

Sunscreen reminder: Sunny spring days bring more outdoor activities. But don't forget daily sunscreen — especially between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. That's when the sun's rays are most intense. Select a sunscreen with an SPF (sun protection factor) of 30 or higher to prevent sunburn, premature skin aging and help reduce your risk of developing skin cancer, such as melanoma. One in 73 women and 1 in 59 men will develop melanoma, according to Health Canada. And remember: A tan isn't healthy — it's a sign of skin damage.

Travelling abroad? Stay healthy, plan ahead. Before an international trip, check travel.gc.ca/ for information about recommended vaccinations. Make sure you're up to date on routine vaccines, too. Plan for enough needed medications; keep them in your carry-on bag. Learn more at travel.gc.ca/travelling/health-safety/medication about travelling with medications and medical devices.

> Always ask, 'Why?' The more reasons you have to pursue a goal, the better you'll likely do in terms of achieving it. — Michael S. Dobson

Burial Trust Fund & Policy

A policy that creates and manages a Trust Fund established by Council to assist families in need when there is no other source of funds available to cover the cost of a funeral and burial, including cremations, at the time of the loss of a loved one.

The Trust Fund is a set amount and is held with Dennings Funeral Directors to include the cost of the funeral service/cremation fees, basic casket, basic headstone, burial vault (if required), and burial costs. If a Trust Fund is requested by a family toward the services provided by another funeral director, the Trust Fund can still be accessed, but may not cover all the same items as outlined above. The Fund does not cover flowers, or any upgrades to the basic casket or headstone chosen by the family, but can include a purchase order through Points Preference Supermarket for meal costs for the day of the funeral.

Chippewas of Kettle & Stony Point First Nation

Support when you need it the most, as provided through a Trust Fund established by Council through Dennings Funeral Directors.

How to apply:

A written request for funding must be submitted by the appointed or confirmed Administrator or Executor. An application is available for this purpose and can be obtained at the Administration Office.

The application includes signed confirmation that the person applying is the family appointed or confirmed Administrator or Executor. The applicant is also confirming there is no other sources of funds available such as an insurance policy, OW or ODSP support, or that the deceased did not pre-plan and pre-pay their own funeral, and that the estate of the deceased does not include sufficient funds to cover the cost.

Finally, the applicant will confirm that he/she will reimburse Council any funds they do receive from sources such as Indian Affairs, Canada Pension Death Benefits, or other sources of benefits specific to funeral and burial costs.

The full policy, complete with application, is available on request.

KETTLE & STONY POINT ELECTORS – NEW NOTICE

LEADERSHIP SELECTION CODE (ELECTION CODE)

The Governance Initiatives Committee has held several community consultation sessions, seeking input into the draft Leadership Selection Code (Election Code). Those sessions were held throughout the months of September 2018 to March 2019. The sessions and questionnaires were also posted through video recording on the First Nation's website.

→ The four questionnaires that were provided at the consultation meetings have now been combined into one questionnaire for anyone who has not completed one and wishes to do so.

We are continuing with the final stages of consultation during the month of May. A representative for the committee will be going door-to-door on the First Nation with the questionnaire. We welcome your participation by completing a questionnaire when the representative comes, or arranges with you a more convenient time for you to sit and ask questions. This will occur throughout the month of May.

You can also pick one up at the Administration Office rather than doing a door-to-door with the representative.

Any elector who resides away from the First Nation may also participate in the questionnaire and we welcome you to do so. We can mail, email, fax or complete a questionnaire over the phone upon your request before the end of May 2019.

The questionnaire is posted with this Notice on the First Nation's face book and website should you wish to print one.

Ph: 519-786-2125 Toll Free: 1-877-787-5213 Fax: 519-786-2108 http://www.kettlepoint.org

There will be draw prizes that your name will be entered for, when you complete a questionnaire. There are 5 silky soft, native print, queen-size blankets that will be drawn for in June.

If you attended the consultation meetings and participated in the questionnaire sticker boards or already completed a questionnaire, your name is already submitted for the draw.

If you have any questions, please contact Corrinda at the Administration Office.

YOUR INPUT INTO THE CHANGES TO THE DRAFT ELECTION CODE IS VALUABLE AND IMPORTANT! (Deadline May 31st)
